Keni Pilbara, WA I nicely messaged Breville to explain the trouble that we were having and they totally blew me off, the only help that they offered was to tell me to wash my rice before I cooked it I was already doing that. So sorry Breville, customer service means everything to me and so you have lost me as a customer. Date Purchased Jun 2018 Like Share More Similar opinion. Write a review on ProductReview.com.au ! Most recent replacement hand delivered by Breville, lasted a week. I use a gram scale and a mill jug, to ensure corrcct amounts, still overcooks and gluggifyies my rice. I could easily pull it apart, ad fix the issue, but that is not my job, and is an obvipoous design fault, and would destroy my warrenty. Good Guys have been excellent in replacing. Some rice sticks to the bottom of the rice cooker however this is easily amended by removing the rice from the rice cooker immediately after it cooks and adding more water. Would definitely recommend it to anyone whos looking for a rice cooker. Date Purchased Jan 2018 Like Share More Similar opinion. The rice really stays quite hot for quite a while. When ready to serve, remove lid and using plastic spoon provided gently scrape bottom of rice bowl loosening the rice on the bottom. Rice is not really stuck to bottom, just a little compacted. The rice comes out perfect every time using the above method, enjoy. Date Purchased May 2016 1 like Share More Similar opinion. I used to have a Breville Rice Cooker that lasted over 12 years until the teflon base started to wear out it worked perfectly, I absolutely loved it. However the Breville BRC200 is just a shocker. Date Purchased Oct 2015 Like Share More Similar opinion. Write a review on ProductReview.com.au ! Stevegee Metropolitan Adelaide, SA 43 reviews 21 likes So we went searching for a dedicated rice cooker and found this one. We routinely use 4 x standard cup measurements of brown rice then fill it with water to the Max. fluid mark. The unit has plenty of punch and soon has it boiling. You do need to keep an eye on things; because the rice can dry out quite quickly at least on brown rice. If it does dry out I have found. Read more that even though it has a non stick inner bowl it will stick and start to brown off. To date I have not cooked white rice. I have tried rinsing the rice well with water prior to cooking but it makes no noticeable difference. The unit comes with a VERY small plastic spoon for stirring but because its so short; its almost useless for anything except maybe for steaming and stirring vegetables. You would be better off using a longer wooden or plastic spoon; which will give you more leverage. In short it works for us and was very good value.
